BIO

---

Meet Slithus, the last of the True Reptoid Men! A cold-blooded post-apocalyptic predator with an incredibly durable body that is covered in sharp spines and photosynthetic skin that can change, chameleon-like, to blend in with his surroundings. Slithus can also destroy creatures on a molecular level with his mind. And can take over your brain and use you as his playthingssssss.

Slithus does not acknowledge any reptile men except for his own superior Reptoid race, who he murdered long ago.

JAMES' NOTES

---

We rolled August's character over a long-distance phone call. He doesn't have a copy of the book. Before we even started he said with gleeful delight, "I have a name for my character already... SLITHUS, the last of the True Reptoid Men!" and then proceeded to roll *every* lizard mutation in the book. Crazy! The best moment was his last mutation, "Slithus now needs mind control!" and then rolled it!
